

eBacon Announces Strategic Partnership With ControlQore to Strengthen Construction Payroll, Job Costing, and Financial Accuracy

New collaboration connects payroll compliance expertise with next-generation construction accounting technology to support contractors nationwide

PHOENIX, AZ – December 5, 2026

eBacon, a leading provider of construction payroll and certified payroll compliance solutions, today announced a strategic partnership with ControlQore, a purpose-built construction accounting platform designed to help contractors gain clarity, accuracy, and financial control across their operations.

This partnership brings together eBacon's expertise in certified payroll, prevailing wage compliance, and workforce management with ControlQore's modern accounting tools and construction-focused financial workflows. Together, the companies aim to provide contractors with more visibility into labor costs, improved compliance confidence, and streamlined financial reporting.

The partnership also includes a coordinated communications flow between platforms, helping payroll and accounting teams stay aligned as they manage labor data, track job costs, and address compliance-sensitive challenges.

A Combined Approach to Construction Payroll and Financial Accuracy

Construction companies face growing pressure to maintain accurate payroll data, meet regulatory requirements, and tie labor costs directly to their financial systems. By aligning eBacon's compliance expertise with ControlQore's accounting platform, contractors gain:

- Better insight into labor-driven project costs
- Stronger support for certified payroll and prevailing wage rules
- Increased accuracy across payroll, accounting, and project financials
- More cohesive communication between financial and operations teams

These capabilities help construction finance leaders, payroll managers, and project administrators eliminate information gaps and reduce errors linked to labor reporting, job costing, and compliance.

What ControlQore Says About the Partnership

"It's awesome! ControlQore is excited to partner with eBacon as a key construction payroll partner for our clients. This partnership closes the gap around complex union labor and prevailing wage challenges our clients have. Almost every conversation we have with clients involves the relationship that payroll has to the core accounting and project financials of a company. Having a payroll partner who can navigate those challenges while giving our clients the opportunity to tie that experience to what we offer at ControlQore is really impactful for business owners and finance leaders.” — Caleb Smith, Co-Founder and President of Revenue at ControlQore

“We’re thrilled to partner with ControlQore. Their team understands the financial challenges construction companies face every day, and their platform gives contractors the visibility they need to make better decisions. Together, we’re giving payroll and accounting teams a clearer, more connected view of their labor and financial data; something that has a real impact on project success.” — Gary Zimmermann, Director of Strategic Partnerships at eBacon

What This Means for Construction Teams

This partnership gives contractors an additional resource for improving the accuracy, communication, and compliance alignment of their financial operations. eBacon clients gain access to a construction-focused accounting partner, and ControlQore users gain access to a payroll compliance resource built specifically for prevailing wage and certified payroll environments.
